

STARTLING EVENTS are forecast by the "well-known" astrologer, Belle Bart. The infant nineteen hundred and twenty-seven has already been phrenologized, characterized, analyzed, and horoscoped. The prediction is certain and the fulfillment thereof is sure if astrology has its way about it. To begin with, John D. is going to have a disaster in the way of financial loss. The reason is this. He was born July 8, 1839 which reveals an affliction of the planet Saturn to its own position and a cross vibration of the planet Jupiter, seriously endangering the health of Mr. Rockefeller. Thomas A. Edison will probably have a fatal accident in his laboratory unless present plans of the heavens change.

WALL STREET is going to suffer because of untimely conjunction of financial planets. The stars have also arranged for another financial scandal involving many prominent persons at Washington. It is doubtful if they can dig up even as good a scandal as Ormiston, but they will do their best to try. President Coolidge displeased the celestial bodies by being born on July 4, 1872 and for that reason will lose his chances for being re-elected in 1928.

DURING the coming year the way will be paved for modification and destruction of the troublesome Volstead Act. Henry Ford will go broke and Wall Street will be allowed to pick up the pieces according to the prognostication of the heavenly systems.

THE PRINCE OF WALES is scheduled to have two falls of different natures. His first one will be to marry a Scotch lassie and the other will be off from his horse that might make it conceivably impossible to be king.

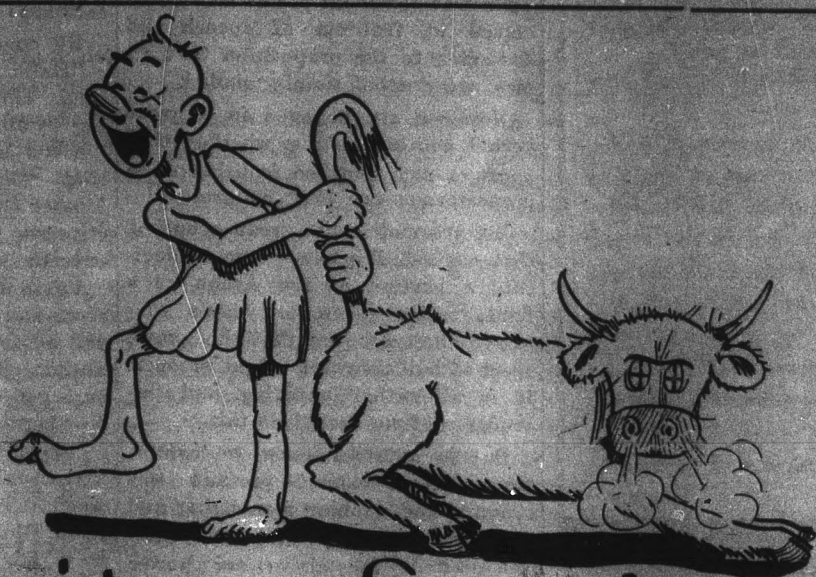

MUSSOLINI also came to this earthly plane at the wrong time and is going to be sick the first half of the year. If he outlives this the stars have decreed that he shall be shot during the last half. This is sad news for the dictator but if the stars say it is so it must be. Queen Marie is to lose the throne during the coming year.

THERE is but one criticism to be made. Miss Bart has done such a thorough job this year that there will not be enough left to fill the scandal section next year. Some of these things should have been saved for the future. Perhaps the trumpet of Gabriel will be saved for next year and thus fill another sensational page.

Several Shipments of Green Caps Here

Owing to the great demand and popularity of the traditional "Green Caps" a second shipment is being hurried to Santa Ana.

All those disappointed in not getting a cap before, because of the rush, will soon be able to obtain one of the much desired emblems. Such college spirit among the newer and greener class, is indeed commendable. Let us all follow their noteworthy example.

Spirit of the Staff!

DEDICATION

In honor of one who has been instrumental in making the Santa Ana junior college a factor in the educational world and in appreciation of his undying efforts to improve the school, this issue is dedicated to the educational counselor, McKee Fisk.

DONS UP IN ARMS!

PEACE MOVEMENT GETS OPPOSITION OF DON STUDENTS

Fear That Radicalism Would Undermine Local Sanity Prompts Declaration

"Peace movements, even if sponsored by the school authorities, will not be accorded a warm reception by the members of the student body," Such was the statement issued by the spokesman of the student body president to a representative of the Don at a late hour yesterday. The students resent any such organization, even though founded by the president himself, on the grounds that it is a child of Soviet Russia, was another declaration of the spokesman.

"Any organization which attempts to bring about peace by disarmament is doomed to failure. Peace is the result of armed neutrality, which if disturbed means the annihilation of one or both parties with perfect peace resulting until total annihilation may take place once again."

"Any attempt to educate the youth of the land to regard this as a truth is also doomed to failure. It is impossible to educate the instinct to fight out of the college youth—a thing which would cause them to forget football."

Feeling has been running high especially since a hitherto unrevealed attempt was made to force a Los Angeles radical upon the students at one of the faculty assemblies.

White's Play, "Scandals" Presented by Local Artists

George White's play "Scandals" was presented at last week's regular assembly.

Mr. Bowling and Miss Lapum won much praise by their interpretation of the leading roles.

Miss Swass sang two lyric-soprano solos, "Mama Love Papa," and "Want a Little Lovin'," and as an encore gave "It Ain't Gonna Rain No More."

I. R. RUFF MAKES NEW DISCOVERY

Famous Botanist in Discovery Of Hopping Frogs

Mr. Ruff became internationally famous two years ago when he explained why some monkeys have short tails while others have long ones.

He made this discovery by observing a monkey back up to a lawn mower. "It won't be long now," stated the monk.

From this astounding discovery Mr. Ruff compiled seven volumes of technical scientific data to prove the fact that his eyes had beheld. Through his efforts he has established one of the best axioms on monkey tailoring in the history of evolution.

BEEMAN TO TEACH NEW DANCE CLASS

History Instructor to Teach New Steps to Students

The dancing class will meet the first time in the street in front of the police station Saturday, February 29th. Mr. Beeman will act as instructor, since Miss Treadway is indisposed with a bad case of mistletoe.

A large crowd is expected the first meeting, which has been delayed for so long because of the need of an instructor. It is not known whether Mr. Beeman has consented to teach the boys as well as the girls, but it is believed that he will instruct only the co-eds.

Since there is no orchestra in J. C. fitted to play dance music, it has been suggested that the Salvation Army band be hired to assist in the instruction.

HONOR SYSTEM REJECTED BY LOCAL STUDENTS IN HOT REPLY TO AUTHORITIES

No honor system will be tolerated by the S. A. college students is the stand taken in a resolution drawn up yesterday by local student leaders.

MINGE VISITS COOLIDGE AT WHITE HOUSE

Winner of Purity Contests Gets Trip to Capitol

"President Coolidge is a good old sport, Lawrence Minge, Santa Ana college hero, stated enthusiastically upon his return from the capitol yesterday. "I found him to be very congenial. He asked me several questions regarding the New Purity Records."

Minge was awarded a free trip to Washington, D. C., for having obtained the highest rating in the recent Thorndike purity test. "The test proved that Lawrence is a man to be proud of. I believe that his failure to make a perfect score by one percent was because he did not understand a question which is probably to his credit. Other students should not be discouraged by their grades, not everyone can be as successful as Minge."

When questioned concerning his record Minge said: "I believe that the installation of a swimming pool has helped me. Also a cultivated mustache is very beneficial." The motto of the Brotherhood of Bachelors, "Girls are to be seen and not spoken to," has been my guiding star."

Zukamackskip Finlestin of Palestine was awarded first place in the recent essay contest on made-at-home products, conducted by the La B. home club. Manuscripts were received from all parts of the world.

Finklestein's reasons for buying made-at-home products were judged to be best because of his emphasis upon keeping money close at hand. He showed good business sense, according to the judges.

BUY HOME PRODUCTS

This startling declaration and others equally surprising come from a large group upon the campus, according to reliable sources of information. The county P.-T.-A. is said to be supporting the student stand.

The resolution denounces any attempt by school authorities to impose a student body store upon the local students.

The Board of Education is scored for intending to plant shrubbery around the athletic field.

The resolution also attacks the Board for spending an exorbitant sum upon the addition to the bleachers which, it is claimed, was paid for by the high school students and the Santa Ana Post of American legion.

Further attempt to obtain Upton Sinclair or G. Bromley Oxnam, asserted radicals, to speak before the college Y. M. C. A. are condemned by the students.

"The Honor System is the worst corrupter of youthful morality in college. Cheating is a habitual and vital necessity which will gradually wear out the conscience. Students will become law-breakers and socially irresponsible." Such was the comment from a student who refused to divulge his identity.

A P.-T.-A. member vehemently criticized the contemplated move by the Board to obstruct the view about the athletic field by planting shrubbery as an attempt to discriminate against impoverished of the city who cannot afford admission to athletic contests.

"We believe, contrary in many respects to our faculty, that pacifists, socialists, reds, and liberal members of the clergy are fools who would only make us more conservative and therefore should not be heard," is a quotation from the resolution.

Proponents of the resolution intend to present it at the next meeting of the Board of Education which

Three Reasons for Patronizing The New Shears & Sawbuck Plant in L. A.

An Elegy

"J. C. is no more," quoth the mournful raven
And flapped his wings in dull contentment, and sought his ducky haven.

"J. C. is dead," the bloody buzzard guffawed,
"Give me the body for my meat," in speech both shrill and gruff, cawed.

"Gone, dead and burned," the elements shrieked in wierd derision.
And flipped their heels and grinning, slid off the horizon.

"The Santa Ana junior college will be discontinued," said the Board of Education,
"Because of lack of enthusiasm and interest, and deplorable co-operation."

Student Rostrum

Dear Mr. Editor,

I am waiting in reply to your statement that you were about to edit a paper in loving memory of Professor Fisk our old educational advisor at Santa Ana junior college way back in 1926. I certainly extend to you my most earnest congratulations for your choice.

How well I remember those cans of corn that we used to eat with him. Mr. Fisk was a great hand for corn in those days. Do you remember up in the mountains the time that he brought those extra cans on purpose for us to eat. Those were the happy days.

His life has been teeming with success. When I last heard from him he was advisor of dietitians at the Folsom State Prison. He gained this position through his persistence in teaching the prisoners that a thin slice of bread satisfies as well as a thick one. Mr. Editor I believe that we have reason to feel thankful we are not in prison these days.

I hope that in expressing my appreciation of your idea of making tribute to our beloved teacher that we do not forget that Mr. Fisk once ate a malted milk. That was by mistake. One day while on a boat the passenger next to him at the table became violently ill and left the table and his malted milk behind. Mr. Fisk availed himself of the opportunity to taste this prohibited beverage and was greatly pleased with the results.

One day when out with a lady friend Mr. Fisk suddenly exclaimed, "Dearie, you look good enough to eat." His friend promptly replied "Let's do." That settled it. They went to Green's cafe and had a real blow-out.

I believe that these are reasons enough why the edition should be dedicated to a man so worthy. If you feel this worthy of publication I shall be glad to give it to your paper. And if Mr. Fisk is willing I shall also take this time to award him the cyanide demitasse as a fitting reward for his economic labor.

Yours comprehensively,
Isaac Levi Steinberger

ANTI-TOREADOR SPEECH

More than four score and seven years ago our fathers brought forth upon this continent a new sport conceived in freedom of speech and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created simple minded.

Now we are engaged in a great verbal contest testing whether that sport or any sport so foolish and so preposterous can long endure.

We are met in the great Arena of that contest. We have come to dedicate a portion of the Arena as a final resting place for those who waged their tongues that the gentle sport of bull throwing might prosper. It is altogether unfitting and improper that we should do this.

But in a larger sense we cannot desecrate we cannot profane this ground. The gabular men living and dead who shoveled here have desecrated it far above our power to add or detract. The world will little note nor long remember what we say here nor will it ever believe what they said here. It is for us, the living, rather, to be dedicated to the unfinished work which they who "threw the bull" here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us that from these dishonored shovelers we hearken to increased "baloney," that we highly resolve that these toreadors shall have thrown the bull in vain, that this nation God, shall have a new birth of suppression of speech and that "bush-wah" of the people, by the people, and for the people shall perish from the earth. Mooo Mooo.

BEDROOM STORY

By Embryonic Calf

BR-r-r-r. CRASH! BANG (That my dears is static, in case you don't own a radio of your own. Anyway, to continue:

BR-r-r-r. CRASH! BANG
"Hello, boys and girls of Radio-land. This is Mother Goose speaking to all her dear little tots."

(And here all the dear little tots said, "Omigod, turn her off"). But Mother Goose had a strong will and a stronger voice so they heard her all over the dial.

I'm going to tell you a ni-ice bedroom story tonight, one that will put you all to sleep. It is by that classic author, Horatio Alger, whom I am sure you all admire as much as Mrs. Northcross does.

"Once upon a time there was a little boy whose name was, well we won't tell you his name, but he came from Glendale. Now you know who he is, but we'll call him Dutchy."

"Now Dutchy was a sensitive little boy, whose great-great-ever-so-many-grandpas had been a Patroon and had worn knickerbockers, and smoked a pipe two yards long. That's why Dutchy never would wear golf knickers."

"How did his great-great-ever-so-many-great grandpa smoke his pipe if it was so long? Why he always stuck his head out of the window and blew the smoke out into the Hudson. (And the people on the next farm always thought the mail boat was coming, and they used to run out to meet it, and they would wait and wait, but of course the boat didn't come, cause there wasn't any boat. It was just Dutchy's great-great-ever-so-many-great grandpa smoking."

"Now Dutchy had always wanted to have his name in the papers, but he wasn't satisfied just to have it way in the back page in a corner, he wanted it in the headlines. Every time he would try to do something sensational, some sweet young thing would up and shoot her employer, or go on a house party without telling her mama first, and crowd him out."

"One day he got quite desperate. He just would get an Extra edition about him or submit to everlasting quiet."

"One day he heard that a real Spanish Toro was coming to town. He just thought to himself that if he could ride the Toro, he would be the talk of the town. He might even get into the Los Angeles papers."

"So he got his daddy's bandanna, and his mother's saltsellar, and went out to meet the Toro. Somebody had told him that bulls were attracted by red and everyone knows what salt on the tail will do."

"But the bull didn't."

"So they buried him in Fairhaven cemetery, and since a movie actress was divorcing her husband, they couldn't find room for his obituary section."

SANTA CLAUS

VISITS KELLY

A little boy ran in and out among the College Students. He was displaying various highly colored Articles of Apparel and spelling lustily.

"Look what Santa brought," he shouted as he snapped a pair of green and yellow garters.

Being Collegiate he was using them as sleevebands. In his locker his pet hen Emily was proudly dangling a new pair of ear rings. Lyle refused to let her out of his locker because he stated that the brass yellow of her earrings "produced an inharmonious color combination with his garters."

Proving—that in this age of gross materialism and commercialism of such things even as Santa Claus, Lyle has kept that fire, that zeal for things of the mind and of the soul.

Dating Takes Form of Rushing on College Campus

"Oh, my dear. I'm so thrilled. Forty men have tried to date me for the dance."

"Just forty? Heavens, Sixty-five have beseeched me to honor them."

"Yes, I suppose so. I was absent for two days. But that's the way it is for all of us. The boys just won't leave us alone."

And very true was the freckled speaker. All the young ladies of the college were dated far in advance, and are turning down several magnanimous offers.

The brilliant affair, scheduled for next March, is to be one of the most pleasing events of the social season. Immediately after its official announcement the halls resembled a hurricane. Everywhere boys were rushing to and fro in their mad desire for dates. They dashed around, resembling a cross country run.

The latest statistics inform the readers that every girl in the college has been dated. It is not unusual. It is always that way in this college. The men never miss a chance to show their extreme chivalry and fondness for the college women. It is even shown in such every day affairs as strolling home in their company, carrying their books, and chatting joyfully to them. Santa Ana is held up as a perfect example by all other universities.

Milton Davis, the child prodigy, compounded learned professors by disputing the Einstien theory of relativity.

Little Earl Jesse, the bouncing two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Artimadorus G. Jesse won the blue ribbon at El Toro's Better Baby Show, Saturday.

Ray Griset celebrated his first birthday this week.

His parents gave him a party in their Greenville home. Among the guests were pretty little Misses Betty Hoy, and Elaine Smith.

Jack Langley, the potential child musician, broke a phonograph record with his milk bottle.

PENALTY FOR TEACHER'S CUTS TO BE EXACTED

The Board of Education has instituted a new system in the college here. For every four cuts the teachers must pay five dollars. This doubtless will be mighty hard on a couple of our esteemed teachers.

Mr. Fisk, by the way, will probably owe the Board more than his salary at the end of the year. At the present time he has been absent 27 1/2 times and says his hopes for the future are bright.

PRES. HAMMOND IN ONE MINUTE ASSEMBLY TALK

"Why Study" is Advice of
Junior College
President

In a lively one minute talk given in assembly Wednesday, President D. K. Hammond greatly inspired the students to greater enjoyment of their school life.

"Why study?" he asked. "It doesn't do you any good. You will probably never use what you would learn if you studied."

"We should have more classes cut in college. It is exceedingly difficult for the teachers when the classes are so large. Why don't you stay home and sleep in the mornings and give 'em a rest?"

"We don't have enough parties here, either. I believe the social chairman should plan a dance at least every other night, and five nights a week doing exams."

If we had a dancing class for the Charleston and Black Bottom it might help matters along, too.

"I've attempted to plan some pretty lively assemblies for the future. Maybe you'd better come to school Wednesday afternoon. I have secured Abe Lyman and his orchestra. The kid's simply great, you know. Then we will have a few of Fanchon and Marco's Ideas. They are often clever. Other amusing events are also being planned."

Following this brief talk Robert McKean gave a short inspirational lecture on "Bavarian Insects." He seemed much wrought up over the preceding speech, and ventured a few criticisms upon it.

"Perhaps our dear president is right. I don't know. But it seems so cruel to think of being deprived of such precious hours of study. And I abhor the thoughts of such frivolous vulgar enjoyments as dancing. I fear I shall be compelled to enter a convent, as my parents and friends have long desired me to do."

MCKEE FISK IS GIVEN DEGREES AT EL TORO "U"

Mr. Fisk, educational counselor has just recently been notified of his being given an honorary: L. L. D., M. D. D., L. O. S., P. D. Q., M. D., D. D., B. V. D., X. Y. Z., L. M. N. O. P., B. A., M. U. T., Q. T., E. T. C., and the Third Degree for discovering the fourth dimension.

Mr. Fisk is the man on the left, (pictured below).

The prof. on the right is Prof. Hum Bug of the El Toro Finishing School who presented Mr. Fisk with the degrees. And states Mr. Fisk, "The school almost finished me."

Mr. Fisk was overwhelmed with the honors thrust upon him and after constant begging finally agreed to tell just how he discovered the fourth dimension.

"I was walking down the street one day," says Fisk, "and somehow I slipped and hit my head on the

SOCIAL DOINGS OF THE DONS

Jacobson Entertains At Beach

The moonlit beach proved a popular rendezvous for a number of college students recently, when they took advantage of vacation and dispersed themselves at the popular resort.

A delicious picnic supper was served by the host Mr. Milton Davis. After every one had eaten their fill, hop scotch, tag, last couple out, and other collegiate games were played by the merry company.

When these games became too strenuous the couples strolled over the beach and sat and enjoyed the charming moon shimmering on the water.

At a late hour the merry party left for home in the beautiful limousines furnished by the boy friends.

The happy party consisted of Mr. Milton Davis, Miss Goldie Jacobson, Joe Jacobson, Esther Jacobson and Julius Yale.

Jacobson Holds Bridge Party

A most charming and beautiful party was given by Miss Goldie Jacobson at her lovely little home on Birch street.

The home was gorgeously decorated in the motif of Christmas. Mistletoe was very much in evidence and holly and poinsettias gave color to the scene.

As each guest entered they were given little tallies shaped like Santa Claus on which were to be kept their bridge scores.

Then ensued a lively game of cards, in which Milton Davis proved himself most efficient and received in token a tinted photograph of the fair hostess Miss Jacobson.

At a late hour delectable refreshments were served by the hostess, and every one went home voting the party a huge success.

Those enjoying the hospitality of Miss Jacobson were Milton Davis.

Courtship College

The formal opening on New Year's eve of the Lewis and Twist Courtship College was well attended. Mary Georgiana and Enid were unprepared for such a huge enrollment so it was necessary to start a waiting list.

"All along had felt the growing demand and noticed the need for instruction along the path leading to matrimony," Miss Twist related. "When that comedian with the U.S.C. gymnastic crew said, 'You've got to hug your girl to keep her,' the idea of opening such a school dawned on me. I chose Mary Georgiana for my partner because of her experience in this line."

"I like the business very much," Miss Lewis said enthusiastically. "Attendance is regular and the boys seem to be interested in their studies. My classes are very devoted to mastering the technique of our system."

NEW SEMESTER OPENS IN NEW COLLEGE PLANT

Grandfather's Dreams Come True in Erection of Buildings

The dreams of thirty seven years ago are at last a reality. The new semester will begin in the new campus at Paularino, where a new and obsolete plant has been installed.

Agitation for this structure has been carried on for a generation or more but it was not until the locals produced a winning football team that the change was deemed advisable. Something had to be done. And done quickly.

Many features have been incorporated in the new plant which it is believed will make the institution one of the most out of date in the Solar system. The plans were first begun a couple of decades ago before horses had entirely gone out of style, which may or may not account for the presence of hitching posts.

Santa Ana has always been known as a progressive and forward looking community and the junior division of the Anti-saloon League is held largely responsible for the swift action taken by the school board in bringing this new educational plant

The blue throwing contest between Santa Ana vs Paulerino game was a thrilling event. The well-known figure, Paton, made a brilliant showing but failed to make good luck in the final round of the contest. The game was a close one, with both teams showing great skill and determination. The final round was particularly intense, with Paton putting up a strong fight. However, in the end, the Paulerino team emerged as the victors. The game was a great display of sportsmanship and skill.
